ONTARIO BIBLE COLLEGE

This book is affectionately dedicated to you,
in sincere appreciation of your faithful service and constant expenditure of time and energy in the interest of the whole student body.

Thank You.

LETTER FROM MR. BRUCE GORDON

ACTING PRESIDENT

Dear Students:

The 1991-92 academic year has come and is almost gone. You have made friends who will last throughout this lifetime and on into the next. You have been touched by God and, I believe, God has been touched by you.

For the times we met in Chapel, for the times you burst into my office, for the times we prayed together and the times we dialogued in the hall, I thank you.

I will see some of you again and look forward to that. However, some of you I may not see again; to you I say, we will stand together when we see the King.

God has a special plan for each of you. He wants to accomplish great things through you and I'm sure He will! Stand firm! Don't waver! Build landmarks in your life which you can look back to and say "God did that!"

Someday, someone will say "Didn't _____ attend Ontario Bible College?" to which I will reply, "He/she sure did and was part of the super student body of 1991-92!"

WHAT A BLAST

What better way to start the school year off then with a retreat at Presquille Provincial Park, in Brighton? Water, sunshine, and an enthusiastic leadership team combined to make our retreat an amazing time. We sang, we swam, we surfed, and we slept. Truly a time of great reflection and preparing for the school year!

WELCOME, FRESHMEN!

FOOTBALL DAYS ...

Intramural football - it's that time of the school year when dorm spirit soars and sports injuries prevail. It was a great semester of football. Ya gotta love the loyalty of all those fans and creativity of the cheerleaders! CONGRATULATIONS to Four South and OD's, winners of the finals and the toilet bowl respectively. Thanks for an exciting and entertaining season!

LIVING NEAR CONSTRUCTION

musings by Janet Howie

We stood staring at the seminary construction site, we three at the window - Kevin, Phil and myself - pondering what the round circle in the middle of the court was intended to be. Phil mused, "Perhaps a giant statue of Bill McRae?" Kevin mumbled assent. I guessed "Maybe they're recreating Stone Henge." Forgetting the fact that Stone Henge originated in a pagan culture, I dared to ask "Just what are they doing?"

But seriously, I love construction. One of the aspects I admire in the construction site supervisor is that he is the keeper of the vision. No matter how dishevelled the site looks, the man in charge knows how to bring order into it. There he stands, map in hand, waiting to distribute the tasks. This delegator knows both the work place and his crew well. He speaks to the men, encourages them in their tasks - he equips them. Sometimes he scolds them for mistakes made. If he is a good and benevolent manager he doesn't hand out tasks that he wouldn't be involved with himself. He's not afraid to get his hands dirty.

In the same way we are construction workers in this work site called earth, and God is our supervisor.

Funny the things that come into your mind when looking out a window.

DORMS

FIVE SOUTH

RA's - Lisa Josefik & Joy Hamilton

From toilet bowl to championship, the south gals cheered those wonderful men to victory! Who can forget some of those cheers — South, don't fall! And remember the Sunday brunches in the hall, the suicidal Kermit, the terminator, dancing in the hallway and in 543, fiddle music or Rita (the choice is yours), toilet paper or lack thereof, our ice-eating monster, dorm meetings, Bible studies, missing teddy bears, and piercing screams due to tickling. Eddie, our lounge (where is it?), sleepovers, noise, orange juice, fun, chocolate chip cookies (or just chocolate, period). We sure do have perfect RA's (Larry and Jim — is that their names?) who love to laugh and have fun. You don't have to tell me how great 5 South is! (What.)

FOUR SOUTH

RA's - Andre Turcotte & Trevor Hill

If I could put the feeling of the dorm into words it would look something like: SOUTHjfl RULESuehdSOUTHjdksRULESskidiSOUTHue neiRULES.

We had a dorm of diversity, with RA's to match. We didn't know which one to call "Trouble". We enjoyed sweet success as we fought our way to the Flag Football Championships. We also enjoyed fellowship, not only with our fellow brothers on the fourth floor, but also with our sister dorm a flight above us. Can we forget waking up at 7:00am in the morning for exercises and prayer? Hats off (or better yet — let's shave our hair off) to a year filled with great memories of even greater times!

FIVE CENTRAL

If you're not from Central, I'll tell you what you are - you're a "central wanna-be"! And who wouldn't with Cathy and Wendy leading the way?

I'd like to thank Matilda for her guest appearances in Rm. 527. And who can forget the aroma of coffee flavour coming from our beloved RAs' room? Flatface's ride on the fan, and his other great excursions during our retreat, as well as Wendy's solitaire marathon will always be in our memories! Cards, anyone?

Cathy and Wendy, thanks for the year! Your open door, your encouragement, but mostly your outrageousness made Central the place to be. Thanks for the love and the laughter. May God bless you both richly.

Oh, and Cathy ... "It's a whale, silly."

Zephaniah 3:17

RA's - Cathy Clements & Wendy Houghton

FOUR CENTRAL

RA's - Glen Heslinga & Gord MacCormack

It started for most of us on a warm and sunny day in early September. We were met by some of the coaches who had already done some pre-season work — like our evangelistic announcement man, Dwayne, our athlete Matt, our "Big Bro", Greg, and of course, their co-workers, who I'm sure are mentioned elsewhere.

It is now that I'd like to introduce two other coaches who not only did a lot of pre-season work, but also pretty well had a game plan for the season planned out: "Hey Hey it's a Lumpy" — Gord MacCormack, and his agile Binbrookian partner, Glen Heslinga. These men had picked a quote from the play book which would hopefully help guide and transform us crazy, zipper-headed, serious, odd, gifted, funny, thoughtful, entertaining, committed, and very diverse group of players into a cohesive, supportive, unified team that would grow together and encourage each other individually. They also encouraged a closer relationship with the Owner of the team, and by so doing, come "Under His Influence" in 4 Central. Thanks guys. Romans 15:5,6

FIVE NORTH

RA's - Bonnie Bryce
Heather Spicer

The girls of 5 North have gained their fame
By dressing in purple and looking the same.
"Everything I do, I do for you"
This song unifies us through and through.

Bonnie and Heather, our beloved RA's
Help us and care for us in their own special ways.
Ping-pong they love to relieve their stress
And their practical jokes are a big success.

Through rain, and sleet, snow, and hail —
Our dedication to 4 North will prevail.
We "tackled" the frigid temperatures to cheer
Our 4 North guys who we hold so dear.

Dave the plumber is always around,
Keeping our plumbing safe and sound.
"Man on the floor", is his call,
When he's here, we can't use a stall.

One body, but many parts —
This verse we know in our hearts.
Growing in love, it's easy to see,
Sisters in Christ we'll always be!
1 Cor. 12:12

FOUR NORTH

I would like to begin by making it clear that from this day forward, everyone is to call Jake Birch "Polkaroo" (the shirt?!). But enough lightheartedness. We on the "quiet end" of fourth floor would like to offer special thanks to our RA of the Lunar persuasion, who displayed a special talent for servant leadership in his treatment of a sink brim-full of vomit. Thanks to the babes upstairs for an unforgettable fine dining experience, and to all who tirelessly followed Brian around, cleaning up the drool during his impressive 85 hour caffeine-fest. A question: who is going to be left at prayer meetings after everyone moves out? Rob, Al, Brad, Mike, Blaine — we'll miss you. In conclusion, may I offer this summary of the year in the very poignant words of my rommate: "WOOF!" (thanks for the input, honey!). Tam, yer da best! Someone call Pizzaville, for cryin' out loud.

RA's - Warren Morris & Tom Hardwich

THREE SOUTH

They say that third floor is dead; They also say that if you cross your eyes, they'll stay that way. But who are "they" anyway? They know diddlysquat — this floor's the best in the west! We girls have suffered through dive-bombing paper towel balls, hanging lingerie, vicious confetti wars, man-eating balloons, and the international shower torture. Isn't that right, Yogi and Booboo?

Led by the incomparable Bonnie Waterslide and Tapioca Pudding, we've learned how to scream at 11:00pm, eat supper at midnight, get kicked out of the kitchen at 1:00am, and toilet paper doors at 2:00am. Can we ever forget the vengeful Yuki, the organized Bonnie, the Tho't for Today, the lack of dishes and cutlery to eat with, the smell of the fridges, and all the other adventures we have had?

For those who dare to join us on third, beware of the screams in the night! Long live three south!

RA's - Bonnie Waterfall

& Takako Yuki

THREE NORTH

It seems that every year there is something or someone from each dorm that somehow characterizes it as unique. This year? Hmm... There has got to be something I could mention — something, I mean, that won't potentially dampen my life expectancy.

Seriously though, all we've got is individuality. For instance, how do you find a common bond between an international student and a hockey player? Or between an urban cowboy and an ex-serviceman? Or between Mark Rzadkowski and anybody?!

We didn't all believe that school had an official bedtime of 10:30. We didn't all feel that the most spiritual thing one could do in the morning was to go to chapel or pray over lunch. We never did anything together without "ladies and pizza present" — unless you counted our Thursday night "turtle feeding" when someone would buy more goldfish.

No! Wait! We DO have one thing in common — none of us ever won a football game all season.

RA's - Mark Rzadkowski & Paul Pryce

THE WAY WE WERE

It's easy for us to look at the OBC building, and OBC people, and think things have always been this way.

Cheerleading squad - 1974

But as we take a very brief glimpse into the past, we realize that our school does see changes — some big, some small.

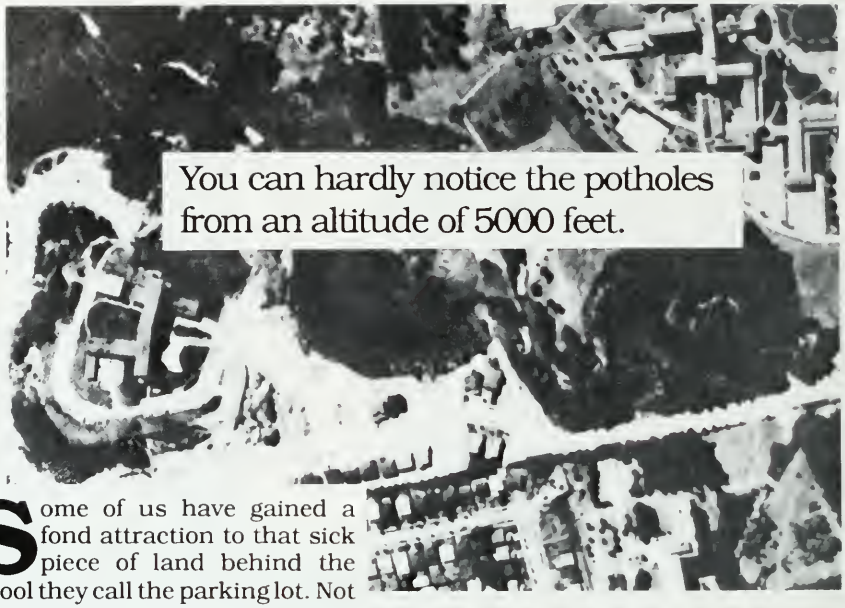
6th floor lounge - 1986

Dorm hallways - only 3 years ago!

Dr. Duez - 1975

Growth and change are important ... let us fondly remember the past, and prayerfully look forward into the future.

OTS - a year ago



You can hardly notice the potholes from an altitude of 5000 feet.

"OBC Parking Lot ..."

Some of us have gained a fond attraction to that sick piece of land behind the school they call the parking lot. Not every bible college gets their own swimming pool, you know. But we all have our own horror stories, and our own tales of adventure, when it comes to the OBC parking lot. We've all experienced the ground-shaking, light-swinging, window-rattling effects of the SuperGrader as he occasionally levels the lot. We've all played "Dodge the Potholes" as we sought the Chubb door in the dark. And admit it ... we've all wondered how much Dr. McRae would like to park over past the Chubb door every day.

But let's face it. In no time, this lot will be paved over, and we can look back to this land of holes and muck, and tell the new freshmen the stories of our infamous, renowned parking lot. "That lot had character", we'll fondly say, and we may even be glad we were the ones who got to experience it at it's worst. It's kind of like those old desks in Room 251. Ask the Seniors.

A Note from the Student Council President:

I have been asked to summarize my year as OBC Student Council President. Well, it is something I never thought I'd do, and I didn't, not really. I think I have finally mastered the art of delegation and those to feel the effects have done works of supererogation (look it up!), I've been on Council before and I know that this one has been the most dedicated and willing to serve. In summation I'd just like to say:

Have fun pickin' up the pieces! Rox.

Ministry Teams

This year we had several groups that ministered in churches, schools, on the street...you name it. Our choir and octet are the ministry teams officially sent out to represent OBC/OTS. The other groups, however, also had several engagements throughout the school year, and committed themselves to many hours of practice and performance. Ask anyone on any of our ministry teams about their ministry, and they will likely tell you how exciting it is to have God use our simple sacrifices to bring glory to His name, and to share His love with others. It's truly a growing experience!

Graduates

Your graduation has finally arrived, and it is time for us to see you go. You are our friends and we will miss you greatly. It is with our love and prayers that we wish you God's richest blessings and encourage you to continually seek his will. Goodbye. James 4:10.

JEFFREY ALEX BALFOUR

"Little by little, every day; little by little, in every way, My Jesus is changin' me..." Maybe only words to a camp song, but they sum up my years at OBC. Classes, friends, field ed, student leadership, and an internship have all stretched me in some way. So I say, "Thanks, OBC!" I also want to mention Mom and Dad - thanks for the support, Sandwich, MRV and Space - thanks for the great times; and Sherri, I love you, and thanks for loving me back. Phil. 3:12-14.

I came to O.B.C. on a quest for growth. God has used O.B.C. to enhance my maturity in so many ways, such as in my faith, academically, emotionally, mentally, socially, and physically. I pray that I may always use it for his purposes.

The ship has weather'd every rack,
The prize we sought is won,
The port is near, the bells I hear,

Warm thanks to Drs. Duez, Penner, and Hiebert. My sincere gratitude to J. Franklin for always going the extra mile with me, and to B. Davey for rekindling my affection for literature.

Thank you OBC, for s-t-r-e-t-c-h-i-n-g me in ways I never dreamed possible. From classes to chapel; class executive to S.C. President, intramurals to Steadfast. Thank you for taking a shy, narrow-minded Baptist girl, and encouraging her to become a confident woman of God. Special thanks to Teeny (an incredible and honest friend). "For I know the plans I have for you." I'm very glad He does because here goes.

OBC - a precious gift of 3 years. What I've gained is: challenges, lessons, friends, and great memories. What I've learned is that I have so much more to learn! What I desire is to always be able to pray -"Lord, whatever you ask, I want to obey You. To let my life beat with a servant's heart. Lord, whatever You ask, I know that You can give me wisdom and courage to equal the task. Lord, whatever You ask" (P. McHugh & M. Wagner).

Karl Barth said, "Exegesis, exegesis, and yet more exegesis! Keep to the Word, the Scripture that has been given to us."
I think he may have been talking about exegesis of the mind. But Gordon Fee said, "Exegesis is not an end in itself, but must always be applied." Fee emphasizes that exegesis of the heart is also very important to Christians. I learned this at OBC.

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8 says that there is a season for everything. Now we start our season called "real life". No one but God knows what it will hold. A lot of things have changed in three years: me, OBC, the world. To Di, Barf, Heater, and B., thanks for everything. To Dave, thanks for always being there; you mean a lot to me. My only wish is that my dad could see me get my diploma. Mom and dad, thanks. I love you.

You can call me Croz or Bing, but I won't sing "White Christmas". Sorry Dr. Duez, I'm still struggling with the concept of predestination. Why do OBC professors assign the most expensive paperbacks in North America? There is one person in the world that deserves all my applause and love - my wife Mhari-Clare. These three years at OBC have been very special. I thank God, overall, for His faithfulness and for what He has taught me about Himself, myself, and others. I leave with some great memories - coke chugs and belches, my 20th birthday, one March 3, the "Eastcoasters", Shen, Cathy, and Carolyn - you're the best - you put up with me, encouraged me, and taught me alot - THANKS!

The winds of spring bring an awakening to the earth more intense than graduation. It's a time when a young man's heart turns to...canoeing! "The canoe is the simplest, most functional, yet aesthetically pleasing object ever created. In my opinion, this is not a statement that is open to debate. It's fact!" (Bill Mason). And finally, I want to thank the one person who has made my three years here possible. I couldn't have done it without him. That person is...me!

During the time that I spent here at OBC I have learned several things: 1/ God can take sinful me, and show His love through others, 2/ He allows us opportunities to share that love back to Him by loving others, 3/ You can't do all that you have ever hoped of doing, but what little you do, make it count, and 4/ You will never, never, never stop learning about who you are as a child of God; always thank your Father for being His child.

Three years: Commuting from Hamilton, the Lord has kept me on the right track. Studying and being tested in class, the professors have kept me in the right seat. I may not remember all the stuff from my classes - well, most of the stuff, but I know I have changed. I entered OBC afraid and naive, but aware of a call and a Saviour who walked with me. Now as I leave I am nervous, not as naive, but certain of a call and a Saviour without whom I can not walk. PS, MSC, Phantom, icepicks, purgatory, "What, sleep before 3am?!", "Does she have a boyfriend?" "What conscience?", F - incomplete, "I can't believe I'm engaged!" Sept. 21, '92. LATER!

OBC was exactly what I needed it to be - a fertile soil that allowed me to grow strong in my faith. I had been of the world for 25 years. Then I found Christ, and within 4 months I was at OBC. I started in the back row, terrified to open my mouth and display my ignorance. One Exciting Step Changed My Life!

After spending 16 years in the sailboat manufacturing business, the thought of being the owner of a successful sign business was the farthest thing from my mind. However, my desire to be involved more in my community and meet business people from all walks of life led me to a very exciting and unique opportunity. Instant Custom Signs was exactly what I needed to reach my personal goals in a profitable way, and to avoid the boredom of a routine job.

Not only did our business expand to four times its original size in the first three years, but we have enjoyed the rewards of a Christian organization that exemplifies the true spirit of working together in harmony and love. Every day is exciting and no two are ever alike!

With ongoing training and leading-edge technology, we feel confident in knowing that our opportunities for growth will continue as we seek to do all things to glorify God.

We realize the importance of memories. We truly hope yours are happy. Thanks for the wonderful year — have a great summer!

C'EST FINI!

A big thank you goes to the team who helped make this yearbook what it is. A special thank you to D.J., Glenn Hunt, and John Bowman who so willingly put hours and hours in, doing whatever I asked.

I've finally had the chance to be a yearbook editor! If I did it again (don't count on it!) there are many things I'd do so different. But I have learned so much and I thank the yearbook team for letting me do it my way and for consistently supporting my ideas.

I also sincerely thank those who regularly asked how things were going — friends, Student Council, — all your support was amazing.

It's been a joy to have Janet Howie as my co-chair, and introduce her to the world of Maxaipa and Student Council. Your personality is refreshing, girl, and your encouragement has meant the world.

Have a great summer, everyone. May God bless you as you continue to seek his will at OBC and elsewhere. Brenda.
